

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Hazard a Guess (HaG), an eTool that will assist you and your workers to take the guess work out of workplace safety.

Hazard a Guess is specifically designed for employers, educators, students and young workers. The tool will provide assistance to employers and trainers to meet their work, health and safety (WHS) training obligations in a variety of industries and in turn contribute to lower injury rates in young workers.

The tool uses a 'game show' style environment to engage the young worker. The young worker is presented with a range of topics and questions, each of them worth a certain number of dollars – similar to the game show Jeopardy. As the young worker selects a topic and dollar amount they are presented with a scenario in which they must make a series of decisions about which actions to take. Actions that result in dangerous or reckless behaviour result in the loss of money and the characters being injured or killed.

There are seven industry kits available. The industries are:

Accommodation and food services (Catalogue No. WC02022)

Construction (Catalogue No. WC02023)

Manufacturing (Catalogue No. WC02024)
